Gardening Sculptures with Lisa Cheung

Lisa Cheung has been working with Groundwork's landscape architect Thomas Steven to create five sculptures and a sitooterie as part of his designs for the View Tube's new environmental garden. Cheung and Avant Gardening will be providing workshops for local gardeners to involve them in growing and displaying plants in the garden and in her sculptures. This project has been made possible through Groundwork funded by M&S and the National Lottery Awards for All and is advised by London Wildlife Trust. The new garden will officially open in April 2011.
